Class Meetings: Tuesdays 7:00-9:45PM, Benjamin Building 3315
Office and Hours: Benjamin 1117J Lecturer’s Office, Mondays 6:00-7:00PM (by appointment only)

Course Design:
EDHD 426 is a course designed for prospective educators to encourage middle and high school students to think about their beliefs about reading in the content areas. This course will focus on cognitive and motivational processes during reading, and practical application of theories and strategies in the classroom setting. Class meetings are mandatory as activities and discussions are designed to supplement course readings and provide practical application of the material.

Course Description:
This course is designed to prepare students for secondary school teaching in all content areas. EDHD 426 will introduce the cognitive and motivational processes of reading and learning from texts across disciplines. Different structured approaches to using text for content learning are presented based on approaches to knowledge, motivation, and strategies. Classroom contexts that enable students to engage productively with diverse texts and Internet resources are provided.

Course Objectives:
Students will:
1. Gain an understanding of how secondary students acquire knowledge from text. (InTASC 4, Knowledge)
2. Gain knowledge of various cognitive strategies and their connection to instructional practices. (InTASC 1, Subject Matter) (InTASC 8, Knowledge)
3. Understand student motivations and how they link to engaged learning. (InTASC 3, Learners) (InTASC 2, Social and Cultural Context)
4. Foster methods of increasing engagement in reading and learning through instruction and formative data. (InTASC 5, Pedagogy)

Academic Integrity: The University of Maryland, College Park has a student-administered Honor Code and Honor Pledge. For more information on the Code of Academic Integrity or the Student Honor Council, please visit http://www.studenthonorcouncil.umd.edu/whatis.html. This Code sets standards for academic integrity at Maryland for all undergraduate and graduate students. As a student you are responsible for upholding these standards for this course. It is very important for you to be aware of the consequences of cheating, fabrication, facilitation, and plagiarism. The code prohibits students from cheating, fabrication, facilitating academic dishonesty, and plagiarism. Instances of this include submitting someone else’s work as your own, submitting your own work completed for another class without permission, or failing to properly cite information other than your own (found in journals, books, online, or otherwise). Any form of academic dishonesty will not be tolerated, and any sign of academic dishonesty will be reported to the appropriate University officials.

Special Needs: If you have a registered disability that will require accommodation, please see the instructor so necessary arrangements can be made. If you have a disability and have not yet registered with the University, please contact Disability Support Services in the Shoemaker Building (301.314.7682, or 301.405.7683 TTD) as soon as possible.
Religious Observances: The University of Maryland policy on religious observances states that students not be penalized in any way for participation in religious observances. Students shall be allowed, whenever possible, to make up academic assignments that are missed due to such absences. However, the must contact the instructor before the absence with a written notification of the projected absence, and arrangements will be made for make-up work or examinations.

Missed single class due to illness: Once during a semester, a student’s self-authored note will be accepted as an excuse for missing a minor scheduled grading event in a single class session if the note documents the date of the illness, acknowledgement from the student that information provided in the note is correct, and a statement that the student understands that providing false information is a violation of the Code of Student Conduct. Students are expected to attempt to inform the instructor of the illness prior to the date of the missed class.

Major scheduled grading events: Major Scheduled Grading Events (MSGE) are indicated on the syllabus. The conditions for accepting a self-signed note do not apply to these events. Written, signed documentation by a health care professional, or other professional in the case of non-medical reasons (see below) of a University-approved excuse for the student’s absence must be supplied. This documentation must include verification of treatment dates and the time period for which the student was unable to meet course requirements. Providers should not include diagnostic information. Without this documentation, opportunities to make up missed assignments or assessments will not be provided.

Non-consecutive, medically necessitated absences from multiple class sessions: Students who throughout the semester miss multiple, non-consecutive class sessions due to medical problems must provide written documentation from a health care professional that their attendance on those days was prohibited for medical reasons.

Non-medical excused absences: According to University policy, non-medical excused absences for missed assignments or assessments may include illness of a dependent, religious observance, involvement in University activities at the request of University officials, or circumstances that are beyond the control of the student. Students asking for excused absence for any of those reasons must also supply appropriate written documentation of the cause and make every attempt to inform the instructor prior to the date of the missed class.

Required Readings:
The required readings are available as full text articles on Research Port. Instructor reserves the right to add/delete supplemental readings throughout the duration of the course as applicable. The textbook is available in the University Book Center at the Student Union: Ormrod, J. E. (2014). 8th Edition. Educational psychology: Developing learners. Pearson Education, Inc.: New Jersey.
Course Requirements:
There are six assessment requirements for this course: Reading Quizzes, Reading Reflections, Extensions, Midterm Rationale, Final Unit Plan Presentation, and Participation. Details are provided in the following sections of the syllabus.

Reading Quizzes (EC 7 – Specialist Competence)
For accountability and comprehension purposes as well as to ensure meaningful and productive class discussion, students will complete a short multiple-choice quiz on the reading(s) at the beginning of class when that reading is due. Quizzes will be administered through Google Forms, so it will be necessary for students to have a working Terpmail or other Gmail account. Students must be in attendance to earn points on a reading quiz. Absent students will earn a zero.

The ten highest quiz scores will count toward the final course grade. 3 points each.

Total Possible Points = 30

Reading Reflections (EC 4—Reflection):
Five times throughout the semester, students must submit one insightful/controversial extract from a chosen course reading and comment/extend on the selected text. Each response should directly relate to the week’s critical question(s), your personal philosophies of teaching, and provide insight and implications for your future teaching career. This is not intended to be a summary of the readings.

Each of the five responses is to be no longer than 150 words, and will be submitted on Canvas throughout the semester with a total of five submitted by the determined deadline. It is expected that the rigor and complexity of these questions will increase following the first class meeting. It is also expected that the responses are submitted in a timely manner, appropriately spaced throughout the semester. The instructor reserves the right to reassign points in this category to cover steps in the process of completing the midterm and final paper.

Responses will be graded on the quality of insight and reflection. 3 points each.

- 3 = Exceptional insight and application of content to future teaching practice.
- 2 = Thoughtful reflection and insight connecting content to future teaching practice.
- 1 = Adequate response; still room for more meaningful reflection/insight.

Total possible points = 15

Extensions (EC 7—Specialist Competence) (EC 4—Reflection): MSGE
Three times throughout the semester, students will find an empirical research article on literacy/reading in their content area and extend their understanding by applying the findings to a course concept and future teaching implications. Each extension must be two-three pages (approximately 500-750 words) in length, organized as follows:

- Heading: APA style citation of research article (as it would appear on a references page)
- Briefly summarize a recently learned course concept (2-3 sentences)
- Summarize methods and findings of research article (~5 sentences)
- Discuss how the findings support or refute the course concept (1 paragraph)
- Discuss implications for future teaching practice (1 paragraph)

Students must edit their extensions for accurate use of APA format for heading and in-text citations, and should be prepared to discuss their extensions in class. Students will submit three Extensions; worth 13, 15, then 17 points.*

Extensions will be submitted on Canvas and graded using the following rubric:

- Accurate course concept summary       ___ / 2
- Sufficient research summary          ___ / 1
- Discussion of course concept as supported/refuted by findings ___ / 4
- Implications for future teaching practice ___ / 5
- *APA formatting                       ___ / 1, 3, 5

Points earned are graduated with each subsequent extension. This is reflective of the expectation that students increase mastery as the semester progresses.

Total possible points = 45
Midterm Rationale [EC 2 – Advocacy] [EC 4—Reflection] [EC 7 – Specialist Competence]: MSGE

The purposes of the midterm rationale are to:
1. integrate course concepts into practical application;
2. demonstrate understanding of adolescent/early adolescent cognitive needs during reading;
3. demonstrate understanding of adolescent/early adolescent motivation during reading;
4. initiate essential and meaningful planning and for final unit plan presentation.

In the rationale, students will reflect on the “why” of pedagogical practices used in the literacy-focused areas in the unit plan. The student demographic will be specified and strategies employed will be “rationalized” using theory, course readings, extension articles, etc. Students will accurately use APA style formatting, in-text citations, and references.

Total possible points = 30

Final Unit Plan Presentation [EC 2—Advocacy] [EC 5—Innovation/Creativity] [EC 7—Specialist Competence] MSGE

The purposes of the final unit plan presentation are to:
1. demonstrate masterful understanding of cognitive processes during reading;
2. demonstrate masterful understanding of motivation supports during reading;
3. demonstrate effective strategy instruction during reading;
4. integrate understanding of course concepts and strategy instruction effectively within an instructional framework;
5. effectively integrate texts and resources in a plan of action for a defined audience in your content area.

Students will work in content-specific teams to design a unit plan around a prescribed framework that integrates course concepts and texts. Building on the midterm rationale, students in each group will take ownership of a designated “chunk” of the unit (lesson or mini-unit) by creating and presenting the associated activities, referring to aspects of the rationale to discuss the “why” behind them.

Students will earn a group score for the presentation, and an individual score on a subsequent 1-2 page reflection. In the reflection, students will discuss potential challenges and obstacles to student achievement in content literacy as well as plans to address them.

Particulars about the assignment will be distributed in hard copy and discussed in class.
- Group Presentation = 30 points
- Individual Reflection = 20 points

Total possible points = 50

Participation [EC 4—Reflection]:
Our classroom is a professional learning community. Your active participation is necessary for you to fully benefit from this course. Class meetings will incorporate small group activities and discussion in which you are expected to participate. You should prepare for class by completing the readings, reading reflections, and extensions. Furthermore, as a future teacher, you are a stakeholder in the collaborative approach of the course. This means respecting the opinions of your classmates, and sharing information and resources that benefit the group as a whole. A practicing teacher does not sit in silence; if you are not an active participant in class, you can expect to be called upon by the instructor at any time. Furthermore, you are expected to work cooperatively with your classmates in a respectful and productive manner to complete all collaborative tasks.

Total possible points = 10
Grading:
You are encouraged to use feedback on all assignments to improve your writing and responses throughout the semester.

- Reading Quizzes (10 x 3 points each) 30
- Reading Reflections (5 x 3 points each) 15
- Extensions (13, 15, & 17 points)* 45
- Midterm Rationale* 30
- Final Unit Plan Presentation & Reflection* 50
- Participation 10

Total Points Possible: 180

*Major Scheduled Graded Event

Submitting Work:
- All work must be submitted on Canvas by the deadline to earn full credit.
- Students experiencing internet connectivity problems may turn in a typed hard copy of an assignment at the beginning of class when it is due. No hand-written work will be accepted.
- All work must be typed in Times New Roman 12-point font and double-spaced with 1-inch margins.
- All work must be proofread for spelling, grammar, and punctuation. Grades will also reflect the clarity and quality of the written material.
- Citations and references in all assignments must be in American Psychological Association (APA) format.
- Students are encouraged to use the Writing Center (301) 405-3785.

Late Work:
- Reading Reflections and Extensions will not be accepted late. Any of these assignments submitted after the determined deadline will earn a score of zero.
- The Midterm Rationale will be penalized one letter grade for each weekday it is late.
- The dates for Final Unit Plan Presentations will be determined well in advance. Attendance is mandatory. Students absent on the day of their presentation will earn zero of the 30 group presentation points.
- Final Unit Plan Reflections will be submitted on Canvas by the end of the final exam day (TBD). Reflections submitted after this deadline will earn zero of the 20 reflection points.
- Exceptions to late work penalties will be granted only with appropriate documentation per the University’s policy, as outlined in the syllabus. Make-up work will be given at the discretion of the instructor, based on proper written documentation and the University’s policy regarding excusable absences.

Course Evaluations Spring 2015: As a member of our academic community, students have a number of important responsibilities. One of these responsibilities is to submit course evaluations each term though CourseEvalUM in order to help faculty and administrators improve teaching and learning at Maryland. All information submitted to CourseEvalUM is confidential. Campus will notify you when CourseEvalUM is open for you to complete your evaluations for fall semester courses. Please go directly to the website (www.courseevalum.umd.edu) to complete your evaluations. By completing all of your evaluations each semester, you will have the privilege of accessing online, at Testudo, the evaluation reports for the thousands of courses for which 70% or more students submitted their evaluations.
